The First AI Tech Support for Older Adults: APO by Carevocacy!

Generative AI is all the buzz right now, and I was wondering what AgeTech use cases we will see utilize this technology for tackling the challenges of aging. I sat down to talk with Stefano Selorio, the founder and CEO of Carevocacy, a startup that provides digital literacy skills to older adults, about their new product APO.

APO is an AI product designed to provide tech support to older adults, and it's based on Carevocacy's experience providing tech training as a service.
